SATURDAY, MAY 20. 1738.

N^o 906.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

Warsaw, April 29. O. S.

THE last Advices from the Frontiers say, that the Turks had built a Bridge over the Danube near Nicopolis, and that the Grand Vizier had begun to assemble his Army betwixt that City and Sophia.

Petersburgh, April 25. The Troops in the Ukraine have been for some time in Motion, and are marching towards the Dnieper; but the Army is not yet form'd, and 'tis not believed that the Count de Munich will be able to march in order to begin the Operations before the 20th of May. We have certain Advice, that the Ottoman Army is far from being formidable; for tho' 'tis numerous enough, yet 'tis composed partly of Militia; and the Defection among the Turks is very great.

Kinna, May 3. The Count de Konigsberg's Equipage is gone for Belgrade, and the General himself will follow it in 3 or 4 Days; but we hear that there have been such Inundations again in Hungary, as will so retard the March of the Troops, that 'tis much to be doubted, whether the Army can be intirely form'd before the Beginning of June. They add from thence, that a Body of 3000 Turks, having, on the 20th ult. attack'd the Fort of St. Elizabeth, situate near Orsova, with very great Fury, was, after a Fight of 3 Hours, repulsed by the Garrison, having had above 500 Men killed and wounded, and lost two Pair of Colours. The Germans are said to have had but 2 Men killed and 11 wounded.

The best as well as most particular Account of this Enterprize, comes in the following Extract of a Letter from Orsova, dated the 22d ult. O. S. viz.

On the 19th Instant Capt. de Pibrach was detach'd at the Head of a good Body of Militia, to take a View of the Enemy in their Post near to Cladowa, a little below the Iron Gate. While he was patrolling about their Camp, he sent in some Spies, who brought him an Account that the Infidels were making Preparations in order to attack the Fort of St. Elizabeth the very next Day. The Capt. de Pibrach returning hither with this Intelligence, the Baron de Cornburg, Commandant of the Place, used double Diligence to give them a warm Reception.

On the 20th at Day-break, the Turks march'd out of their Camp, and when they came in Sight of the Place, they sent a Detachment of 3000 Men, who advanced in good Order towards the Fort of St. Elizabeth, and attack'd it with incredible Fury. Some Days before this, the Bashaw, Commandant of Widdin, who was said to have been preferred to a Seraskier, had given us to understand, that on the 20th he would certainly come and pay us a Visit; and M. de Cornburg returned him Answer, that he should be welcome, and have such Reception as he deserved: And we were as good as our Words; for the Infidels after having continued their Attack for above 3 Hours, and were advanced one time as far as the Bars with 2 Pair of Colours, were repulsed on all Sides, and forced to retire with the Loss of above 500 Men killed and wounded, among whom were several Officers of Rank, and among the former a Bashaw. On our Side the Baron de Molck had his Arm shatter'd by a Musket Shot, a Corporal and 10 Soldiers were wounded, and we had but one Man killed. Our Artillery was very well ply'd during this Attack, and seconded the Fire of the Small Arms to a Miracle. But nothing inspires both the Officer and Soldier with more Courage than the Dispositions of M. de Cornburg, who thinks of every thing, takes care of every thing, and is at every Place, insomuch that the Garrison thinks itself twice as strong as it is under such a Commander: And the Country Militia are equally satisfy'd with the Captain de Pibrach.

P. S. We had a hot Alarm this very Night. The Infidels advanced on both Sides of the Danube, with a Design to attack the Fort of St. Elizabeth, at the Head of the Bridge which covers our Batteries, and the Flying Bridge; but they found us every where in such a Situation, that they had no Mind to put it in Execution.

Dresden, May 7. On the 1st Instant the Queen of the Two Sicilies took her solemn Leave of this City, in order to go and join her Spouse. She set out about Noon with a Train of no less than 100 Coaches and six to Pillnitz, where the King and Queen of Poland were arrived before hand, and from thence she proceeded next Day about 11 in the Forenoon towards Prague, being accompany'd by both their Majesties as far as Zebitz, where they gave her their Blessing with the most tender Embraces at Parting. The Prince Royal her Brother set out at the same time for the Baths of Ischia, near Naples, and travels by the Name of the Count de Lusatia. On the 3d, the said Queen and her Brother arrived at Prague, and on the 5th proceeded to Palma Nuova, on the Frontiers of Venice.

Leipsick, May 9. We hear from Saxe Weissenfeld, that Louisa Christina, the Duchess Dowager of that Name, died there on the 5th Instant, in the 64th Year of her Age.

Berlin, May 9. Yesterday there was a terrible Storm of Thunder and Lightning at Potsdam, and such large Hail-stones fell at the same time, as have broke Glass Windows to the Damage of above 2000 Crowns.

Bastia, April 26. The Deputies of the Malecontents, viz. Oriconi and Giasseri, are but just return'd hither. They report, That the Lord of the Territory of Nebbio, one of the chief Men of Corsica, and who has signalized himself most in the late Troubles, has made his Submission, and that he was speedily to send Hostages, with the Act of his Adherence to the Treaty of Accommodation concluded with the Count de Boissieux; so that every thing seems now to be finished, and the Articles of the Treaty will soon be made publick. Indeed there was a small Act of Hostility committed lately about Balagna, where the Malecontents carry'd off a great Number of Cattle by way of Reprisal; but hearing that a Part of them belong'd to the French Purveyors, they sent them back again immediately.

Breda, May 11. Last Night their most Serene Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Orange arriv'd from Loo at this Place, where they intend to spend part of the fine Season.

Leyden, May 15. There is arrived here a Native of Swedish Finland, one Daniel Cajanus, who is 35 Years old, and 8 Foot high, and is daily visited by Numbers of People of all Ranks, to the great Emolument of the Coffeehouse where he has taken up his Quarters.

IRELAND.

Dublin, May 13. We are assured that the Trustees of the Linen-Manufacture are resolv'd to establish an Agent in London, in order to detect the fraudulent lapping of Irish Linens, who will likewise have a Power to receive Complaints of all Persons aggrieved.

Last Wednesday Morning a Soldier who was going down Dirty-lane, was attacked by a Fellow with a drawn Hanger, and wounded in a miserable Manner.

On Thursday Evening two Men were committed to Kilmainham Gaol for entering the House of a Farmer near Bellough, they hung him by the Heels, to oblige him to tell where his Money lay: He had received 8 l. in this City the Day before, and 'tis thought they had Information of it, but were disappointed, it being paid by him to his Landlord. It is supposed these two Men robbed and murder'd a Man lately coming from the Fair of Manooth.
